AMERICA IS LEADING

America attributes its greatness as a nation to the brilliant men and women who, "sounding forth the trumpet that never called retreat," erected this massive United States from a simple people and crude resources. . . . We of Washington's student body feel much the same toward the faculty. In search of further knowledge, youth enters high school and is received by the teachers as a simple, pliable mass of tangled talent and ability. Patiently, in the classroom, at clubs, on the athletic field the pedagogues work at their task — moulding futures, clearing bewildered minds—slowly shaping the mass, rounding off rough edges; and soon coarseness is lost to highly polished refinement. Then, as three years draw to a close, the kindly faculty pauses a moment and, sounding forth the trumpet, passes to the outer world a capable young American. Then, never retreating, they silently return to their task of shaping the never-ending flow of raw recruits.

THAT SHALL NEVER CALL RETREAT

OUR PRINCIPAL — GEORGE J. BALZER

The guidance of high school students, the men and women of tomorrow, is one of the gravest responsibilities a man can face during a time of war. Our principal, Mr. George J. Balzer, is to be highly commended for the success he is achieving. Each problem he meets with a steady eye and administrative hand and helps turn it into a well-organized project. His wisdom and capable leadership have imparted to us the urgent need of knowledge today. Both student and alumnus at home or overseas cherish his counsel and claim a share in his welcome.

As with housewives, teachers often find their work never done. For when the day's classes are over they step into the roles of club critics and help direct, plan, and assist in the organization's work. All of this extra service is done on their own time, but their willingness to help is evident in the success of Washington's extra-curricular activities.

Although the school year was shortened, teachers found their work doubled. Additional time was required for selling war bonds and stamps and helping organize paper drives. The teachers distributed dodgers and twine to the willing helpers and also presented auditorium programs pertaining to the war effort. Indeed they have found it a very busy year.

IN MEMORY

Miss Marian Scanlan

If true beauty was ever found in the soul of a human being, it was found in Miss Marian Scanlan. Everything she did bespoke this beauty: it was seen in her love for correct, fine English; her sterling character; and the understanding she possessed. . . . Nothing was too trivial for her attention. Nothing was so important as to swerve her from her sense of fair play. It has been said that one of her outstanding traits was loyalty — loyalty to her church, her school, and her family. Many patient hours were spent poring over volumes of history for her father's research, the only compensation being her enjoyment of such work and his heartfelt thanks. She achieved the ambition of writing numerous poems and a history textbook of her home town; and she often expressed the desire to edit books for English classes, hoping to bring her students the best in literature. . . . Although she will never grace the earthly portals of Washington again, she will live forever in the portals of our hearts.

Mr. Henry Ericson

Serving as he lived, Mr. Henry Ericson gave much to life and was given much in return. In no small way Washington received the harvest of Mr. Ericson's best years, for ever dearest to him were his church and his school. As he had learned the Greek language to better understand the Bible, so did he probe far into current problems, keeping closely atune to the events of the day. The radiance of his jovial personality brightened his surroundings: in the classroom; on the street; and in his home. . . . Delving far into activities he was associated with, Mr. Ericson had long been a symbol of sincerity and perseverance. In addition to his skill as math instructor, he was noted for his achievements as a linguist, sports enthusiast, and lover of nature. . . . Giving freely of time and effort, Mr. Ericson was loved by people of all walks of life; and saddened though we are by the passing of this venerable man, we are gratefully confident that he has gone to serve in even greater fields of endeavor.

TEACHERS IN SERVICE

The fire of appreciativeness for services rendered by faculty members now in the fighting forces burns ever higher in the minds of those at home. Constant, eager strides toward the goal of perfect teaching, and encouraging hands extended to those in need of help are gifts not forgotten. To develop the opportunities for service in new fields, these members have relinquished their homes, their dear ones, and students for whom they harbored a fond hope.

IN TRIBUTE to Miss Lucy Schoenig

After faithfully serving Washington High School for twenty-nine years, Miss Lucy Schoenig retired from teaching in June, 1943, leaving behind an admirable record of patient instructing and calm efficiency. . . . Expressive of the feelings of the school as a whole is Mr. Balzer's statement: "Miss Lucy Schoenig, through painstaking methods, furnished many businessmen of the city with competent help. Such men considered it a prize to get one of Miss Schoenig's graduates."

AMERICA IS WORKING

Stirring music, dramatic poetry, vivid painting: all have been inspired by the whirl and bustle of cities teeming with workers. The work of the world goes on day by day as new vistas of unlimited horizons are opened to eager minds. . . . Perhaps the work we do in school — study and write, read and recite — is not wholly unlike that of the laborer. Although we have not stepped across the threshold to a work-a-day life, we yet glory in being able to accomplish a given task. We recognize the worth of freedom of opportunity for everyone, everywhere. And by choosing the subjects we want and working under teachers' guidance, not rule, we feel democracy working. The grip of the hand on a wrench, the swift, sure touch of the typist, the sensitive press of the doctor's fingers — these are the skills with which we are preparing to fill our places in a working world. We stand ready, too, to remove any barrier of oppression which obstructs our entrance into that vivid life across the threshold.

AMERICA IS PLAYING

Today, after a century of popularizing, the American game continues to hold sway on vacant lots or jammed stadiums. Today, a busy nation pauses during its daily routine to spend an afternoon at the ball park and returns to its duties with renewed vigor and enthusiasm. . . . It's easy to see how sports hold America's interest so successfully. It's the magnetism of the bright colors, the rousing cheers, and it's the age-old love of competition, the spirit of friendly rivalry that draws many followers to the games.

Here at Washington we taste this rivalry throughout every season. Last fall our pig-skinners earnestly drilled on the athletic field in anticipation of stiff opposition. Backed by school loyalty and a determined spirit, they charged, to win crowning honors. With this same eagerness and zest our hard-wooders vied through the winter months, repeatedly challenging their opponents. Rounding out the school year, our track team added the finishing touches to a fine athletic record, with a shiny list of achievements. . . . As America plays, season after season, Washington also plays—wholesomely and wholeheartedly!

COACHES

The many Washington coaches deserve much credit for the athletic laurels that have come to our school.

The coaching combination of Blackbourn and Powers has been responsible in no small way for giving our school more city football championships than any other school in the city.

Mentor Gettle, sophomore team coach, and Vallier and Bruggink, coaches of the B team, have given the young pigskinners the fundamentals so necessary for varsity competition.

Coach Humke has turned out some of the best basketball squads in the city, and the B teams under Coach Blackbourn have also made a fine record.

Mentor Goodearle's track teams have distinguished themselves through his fine coaching. Coaches Powers and Humke have developed outstanding weight men and pole vaulters.

Mr. Froehlich, tennis team coach, has been associated with outstanding Purgold tennis seasons for more than twenty years.

Coach Blackbourn closes his year with the coaching of the golf team, and Coach Goodearle's track season follows his work with the cross country and swimming squads.

CAPTAINS

Eugene Siehr, Tonian swimming squad letterman for two years, set new school records in the 50 and 100-yd. free-style events.

Morton Phillips, track co-captain, was a consistent leader in the hurdles and high jump events.

Cross-country co-captain, Fred Theilacker, was a three-year varsity hill-daler and a miler on the track team.

Alvin Zautcke, Purgold basketball ace, made the varsity squad in his sophomore year and also was a high jumper for Coach Goodearle.

Tom Thurow, Washington's wrestling king and a three-letter man, coached the grapplers in this year's season of competition.

Robert Eimermann was a varsity cross country star and a miler for two years.

Dave Nettesheim, our all-city football captain, was a two-year football letterman as well as a varsity wrestler.

Earle Albright, letterman in football, was a relay man and a hurdler on the cinder squad.

PRE-SEASON GAMES

The 1943 football team following in the footsteps of last year's team again captured the city conference crown. The Tonian gridders started the season with the traditional Tosa game. The Redmen handed the team its first defeat in a heart-breaking 13-6 game. Nettesheim scored the lone tally for the Purgolders and almost scored the second tally in the closing second on a long pass from McInnis but he was stopped two yards short and the gun ended the game two seconds later. This defeat was due largely to inexperience as later clashes proved.

The Purgolders bounded back with an 18-6 win over the West Allis Bulldogs. Dave Nettesheim, Jim McInnis, and "Blackie" Blackburn scored for the Tonian camp. The team showed a definite improvement both defensively and offensively.

WEST

The Washington High School pigskinners began the 1943 city schedule by ably defending their title against the West Division gridders. The Tonian men came out on the long end of a 27-0 score. The Redmen put up a stiff battle in the first quarter, but Washington scored early in the second quarter after a 69 yard touchdown march. Spirited running by Stephan, Nettesheim, and McInnis set up the touchdown. Nettesheim scored the second marker on a lateral from Schram. The third tally was a result of a fumble by the West team. The last touchdown was scored by Grossman on a 38-yard run after he intercepted a crimson aerial.

BAY VIEW

A smooth offense and staunch defense accounted for the 32-7 Tonian victory over Bay View. The Purple and Gold team played like an experienced grid squad and stopped the Bay View pass offense. Miller, Madden, Naylor, and the other Tonian linemen were responsible to a large degree for the victory. Flashy running by McInnis and Nettesheim accounted for the five tallies. The team had really shaped up into a championship outfit.

PULASKI

The Washington grid machine rolled over the Pulaski Ramblers by a score of 40-7. The game was almost a complete rout with the Purgolders scoring almost at will. Fine performances were turned in by the whole team. Nettesheim, Blackburn, Albright, and McInnis romped over the goal for our camp; and Joe Madden did his usual fine job on conversions.

Come on, boys; put it over!

EAST

The East Division grid team was swamped by a powerful Tonian juggernaut in the annual homecoming classic. The Orange and Black men were on the short end of the 47-0 score. The game clearly showed that perfect coordination between the Tonian backs and the line was the best formula for victory. The line opened up beautiful holes for long gains. The scoring laurels were split quite evenly between the backs.

KING

The King-Washington game was truly the game of the season. The game proved to be the toughest tussle of the season for the Purgolders, but a crowd of 12,000 spectators saw the Washington men beat the tough King men by a score of 14-0. The game was a battle of defense and most of the game was played near the midfield stripe. The first Washington touchdown was scored by Captain Dave "Tank" Nettesheim on the first play from scrimmage. Nettesheim plunged through the Blue and Gold line and raced 60 yards for a touchdown. The second touchdown was scored when Stephan snatched an enemy pass and ran it back for a touchdown.

Lettermen

TECH

The Purgold pigskinners concluded their highly successful season by trouncing the Tech men 20-0, and gaining their second City Conference crown in two years by this seventh straight victory in as many starts. Stephan, Nettesheim, and R. Miller accounted for the touchdowns.

The combined coaching of Coach Blackburn and Coach Powers had taken a group of inexperienced boys and had molded them into a powerful grid steamroller which overwhelmed all its opponents and snared city grid honors.

The Valliermen poured it on in the next game, and they romped to a 27-0 win over the boys from North.

The following scrap was with a tough East squad, and an inspired Purgold outfit demonstrated their might by an impressive triumph to the tune of 36-0.

The outstanding play of Harry Zirbel, Jerry Shumow, Ray Muehlbach, Dan Bailey, and Chuck Miller helped to make this record possible.

The Washington Soph Squad, following its established custom, came through with a perfect season, their fourth year of undefeated play.

In the first game the smooth teamwork of the local aggregation "snowed under" an out-classed West Allis team, 26-6.

The second Soph game was with the Tosa "B" Squad, and after a hard fight, it was won by the "Greenies," 7-6.

The fine running of La Croix and Kappen and the all around play of John McMahon, Herb Lockwood, and Jay Anderson sparked the Gettlemen to a 19-6 win over Lincoln.

The battle with the strong South team ended in a Purgold victory, 6-0.

The final game of the season was played with King, and the Sophs' arch-rivals held them to a single touchdown win.

Varsity

The Washington High School distance team had its best season in ten years. The hill and dalers, under the coaching of Coach Goodearle and captaincy of Frederick Theilacker and Robert Eimermann have established a record that will be hard to equal in future years. The mainstays of last season's thin-clads were Dean Corrado, Frederick Theilacker, Robert Eimermann, James Doyle, Donald Kersner, Jerry Walloch, and Cullen Zutavern.

The Tonian hill-dalers started off the season's competition with East Division. The Riverside thinlies handed the Purgolders their first defeat. The local men came out on the long end of a 31-25 score, but in the defeat the Tonians discovered a fine runner in sophomore Dean Corrado. Corrado copped second place in the meet. Theilacker and Doyle ran fifth and sixth in the meet respectively.

The Purgolder harriers tied West Allis in their second meet of the season. Corrado came in first with Doyle coming in second and Theilacker, co-captain, fifth.

The Purgold harriers handed Bay View their first defeat in three years. Frederick Theilacker scored first place followed by Dean Corrado, who took second. James Doyle came in fourth for the local harriers.

The Goodearlemen copped a double dual meet and defeated Juneau 55-15 and Lincoln 50-17. Eight Purgolders placed among the first nine to finish the race. The team was again paced by Dean Corrado, who was the first to finish the course. The other locals who copped top places in the meet were Jim Doyle, coming in second close behind Corrado; Fred Theilacker placing third; Jerry Walloch coming in fifth; Don Kirschner, sixth; Cullen Zutavern, seventh; Bob Eimermann, eighth; and Don Schwehn, ninth.

The distancemen defeated the Southmen 21-43 and copped eight out of the first ten places. Corrado, Theilacker, and Doyle came in first, third, and fourth, respectively.

Our boys came out on top in a triangular meet with Rufus King and East Division. The score of the meet was 28-38-63. Corrado snared second; Jim Doyle came in third; and Fred Theilacker came in fourth.

The team came in second in the city meet right behind Bay View. Dean Corrado, local runner, copped second place in the meet. Fred Theilacker snared seventh, and Jim Doyle came in ninth.

The Tonian cross-country team climaxed their season by copping second place in the state meet. Dean Corrado paced all comers and took first place. The state meet closed the local distance squad's season and the best season the school has had in many years.

The Washington Swimming Squad under the mentorship of Coach Stewart Goodearle had another fairly successful year. The splashers won three of their thirteen dual meets and lost several by close margins.

After dropping the first meet to Tech, the mermen bounded back with a win over Lincoln, but lost the next two to Bay View and Tosa by identical scores.

The Goodearlemen grabbed the following meet from a strong West Milwaukee team by a one-point margin of victory.

The swimmers hit a slump and lost the seven following frays to East, West Allis, Arthur Hill, Pulaski, North, M. U. S., and West Milwaukee.

A determined Purgold squad snatched the last dual meet from a spunky out-of-town Two Rivers team.

The Tonian squad made a fine showing in the regional events by placing fourth in the Little City, third in the City, and ninth in the State meets, respectively.

A new system of competition was inaugurated in the city high school basketball schedule last season. The schools were divided into two sections, north and south, with each team playing return games with each school in its division. The four top teams from each section were then entered in the playoffs, and the city championship was determined by elimination.

The Humkemen started the season with two varsity lettermen and the preceding year's B team. The boys developed into a fast, smoothly working squad as the season progressed. The Tonian bucket brigade was one of the most formidable squads in the city conference last season. The team fought hard in defeat as well as in victory. The boys were never beaten by more than a two or three-point margin, proving their fighting spirit.

The bucket-swishers are looking with anxious eyes toward next season's cage race when they will have practically the entire varsity intact, Krueger and Rubin being the only boys not returning. Zautcke, Wunder, Miller, Puestow, Ryerson, and Blackburn, all lettermen, will be on hand for the next hardwood season.

The Washington High School basketball team had a very successful season with a good record of nine victories in 15 games. The hardwood squad finished second in the north section race and fourth place in the city conference.

The Jarvie Basketeers, with good material and fine coaching, completed another successful year under Coach Blackbourn.

The "B" Squad practiced long and hard that they might gain and develop that necessary poise and ability, demonstrated by their elder varsity brothers.

The experience gained in a game "under fire" is invaluable to any future varsity candidate; therefore, the Purgolders played a full schedule of games with conference and non-conference foes.

WRESTLING

The Washington wrestling squad, coached this season by student mentors, Tom Thurow and Dick Truss, had another successful year. The squad won three out of four meets.

In the first tussle, Washington smothered an out-classed Pulaski squad by the one-sided score of 45-0. Heavy strength was displayed in all weight classes in this meet.

A strong South team, Washington's arch rivals in wrestling, yielded a 22-9 victory to the Purgolders.

The return meet with Pulaski was almost a repeat performance of the first. The match ended in a Purgold victory by the overwhelming score of 35½-1½.

The second of the frays with South ended in a victory for the Redmen by the heartbreaking score of 16-15.

Many wrestlers are returning next year, and all indications are that we will have another season as successful as this year's has been.

The annual tennis club fall tournament under the direction of Mr. Arno Froelich, drew many tennis enthusiasts into competition. Bob Walt downed all comers and was crowned 1943 boys' champ. Jean Schramka was acclaimed girls' champ of the fall tournament.

The traditional spring contest is the high spot in the clubs' spring activities. This chance to wield a racket is appreciated by all tennis enthusiasts and the tournament always brings out local tennis talent.

The 'Tonian pointmakers were Dickelman and Sheehan, who came in first and fourth in the 440. Kindt and Gumm took second and third places in the discus and first and fifth places in the shot put. McInnis was in the runner-up position in the 200 yard dash. Schwabe in the pole vault and Puestow in the broad jump copped fifth place and fourth place in those events respectively. ## TRACK

The 'Tonian team started out the 1944 cinder season with 15 veterans of last year's track season. There were returning lettermen in just about every event. These experienced cinder men and the host of new material promised to give the locals the best track season in many a year.

The hurdles are one of the strongest spots of the team. 1944 Co-captain Mort Phillips has proved himself one of the best hurdlers in the city in both the highs and lows. Other hurdle men are Co-captain Earle Albright, Eugene Bussian, and Jim McInnis.

The sprint and relay sections are also very strong departments. Cal Mueller, Jim McInnis, Jerry Strohm, Earle Albright, and Glenn Kanitz are all veterans of last year's competition. Lisle Blackburn, Jr. and Marty Siegel are outstanding sophomore prospects.

DISCUS AND SHOT

Top Row: D. Klein, H. Zirbel, J. Stark, A. Shellinger, W. Ehlke, E. Miller, J. Rubin, R. Cootware, P. Bailey. Bottom Row: R. Truss, J. Boening, D. Ausman, H. Lewin, E. Stephan, J. Hulbert.

Ralph Sheehan, veteran quarter miler, should have one of his finest seasons. Mel Goldin shows promise in the 440. The half mile event will be left in the capable hands of Charles Joers, James Doyle, and Don Schaefer. The Goodearle men will also be strong in the mile. Although no lettermen returned in this event, three times under five minutes have been turned in by Dean Corrado, Cully Zutavern, and Larry Doyle.

The locals also show much strength in every field event but the weights. Mort Phillips, Al Zautcke, Jim Embach, and Jordie Miller are veterans in the high jump. Jim McInnis, Al Puestow, and Jerry Meyer are the returning lettermen in this event. Gene Stephan and Ed Schwabe will do the pole vaulting. The weight department has no lettermen returning, but Ehlke, Stephan, Rubin, Lewin, and Boening should prove stellar weightmen.

The 1944 cinder squad showed great strength in their initial dual meet with South, trouncing the Southmen 76-39. Jim McInnis, local speed star, broke the city record of 20.6 seconds by .1 of a second in the 200 yard dash.

Of all the clubs in Washington, almost all the girls find Wahiat most enjoyable for it enables them to act physically as well as mentally. To Washington's "fairer sex," Wahiat offers a wide range of sports for all who care to join. The sports participated in this year included volleyball, basketball, baseball, shuffleboard, ping-pong, and swimming.

This year Joan Radke presided as president. She was assisted by Lois Diekow, who acted as both secretary and treasurer. Wahiat also had a representative in the Student Council. This position was held by Shirley Amshler. Miss Nellie Havens and Miss Harriette Roesling acted as coaches and advisers to the club.

The club is run by a regular plan. This year was divided into several sections, one for each sport. The girls formed their own teams and chose captains. The captain was usually the girl who started the team. After all teams had a practice period, a schedule for tournament games was posted, and the games began. By a round-robin plan the remaining team won the undisputed title.

OUTSTANDING ATHLETES

For every sport in which a girl participated she received points. The points are earned in many different ways, such as being on a championship team, captaining a team, coaching, and being chosen an all star. Wahiat presents a gold and a silver medal to the two girls earning the most points. Joan Radke received first place, and Jeanne Nord second.

Joan, in her three years of active participation, has earned a total of 652 points. Jeanne qualified for second place with 459.

The seniors to be honored with pins for scores over 250 points are Betty Genger, Margie Otto, Camilla Aik, Betty Kretlow, and Ruth Rieger.

Joan, by virtue of being high point girl, also has the honor of having her name engraved on the Principal's trophy.

SHUFFLEBOARD

This year the girls of Wahiat held another season of shuffleboard competition. They struggled very hard trying to knock their opponents' blocks out of the triangle and at the same time keep their own in it. The girls who finally came out on top were Ethel Stanek and Carolyn Hale. They were proclaimed champs of the tournament.

BASKETBALL

A few weeks after the termination of the girls' volleyball season, another three-court basketball season rolled around. After several nights of practice, the teams began playing for the championship. Some girls had to forfeit the game because of lack of players; others lost to better teams. Through the process of elimination, two teams were left for the play off. Shortly after the game started Lillian's team sank a basket and scored two points. At the half the score was four to four. At the end of the third quarter, Lillian's team was leading six to four. Then the team, co-captained by Jeanne Nord and Margie Otto, dropped in two more baskets making the score eight to six at the finish of the game.

VOLLEYBALL

With a spontaneous outburst of pep and enthusiasm another volleyball season was successfully started. This year many teams formed to try for the championship. Each team had one practice period before the real tournament started. When all the teams were able to try their ability in volleyball, the play-off for championship began. Within a few weeks almost all had been eliminated. The night of the final play off, every member of each team was tense and excited—it was a very close game. The team captained by Beth Hewitt, won the first game 15-11. Joan Radke's team came back winning the second 15-12. The final game was to decide which team would hold the championship for the year. The final score was 15-13 in favor of Joan's team. The senior girls became champions.

TABLE TENNIS

Not only did the girls participate in sports where it was necessary to have a team of two or more members, but they also were able to exhibit their own abilities. There were tournaments in table tennis as well as other sports.

Some girls went out for the game to learn it; others wished to play in the tournament. This year many signed up for these reasons. Slowly the number diminished and soon only Barbara Hofland and Jean Schramka were left. They played on the basis of two out of three games. Although the games were close, Barbara finally won the games necessary to make her champion.

AMERICA IS SINGING

Without a song the beauty of American life would be lacking. Without the companionship of friends we could never fully understand and appreciate the meaning of the things we are now fighting for. It is true we must spend much of our time at present fighting for these fundamentals. But in the future they shall be the very foundation of a lasting peace. So, to realize their full worth, we must vicariously live them now. That is why extracurricular activities at Washington are so important. For it is in our school life that we learn the value of friends and of recreation as well as of knowledge. It is in these organizations that we come to know what we are fighting for and what we will want in our future peace. They bring home to us by their close, friendly harmony the full beauty of the American way of life, inspiring and urging us on to the burning goal of peace and equality for mankind.

COLUMBIA, THE GEM OF THE OCEAN

O Columbia, the gem of the ocean,
The home of the brave and the free,
The shrine of each patriot's devotion,
A world offers homage to thee.
Thy banners make heroes assemble,
When Liberty's form stands in view;
Thy banners make tyranny tremble,
When borne by the red, white and blue;
Thy banners make tyranny tremble,
When borne by the red, white and blue;
Thy banners make tyranny tremble,
When borne by the red, white and blue.
When war winged its wide desolation,
And threatened the land to deform,
The ark then of freedom's foundation,
Columbia rode safe through the storm;
With her garlands of vict'ry around her,
Proudly she bore her brave crew,
The boast of the red, white and blue,
The boast of the red, white and blue,
With her flag proudly floating before her,
The boast of the red, white and blue.
The star-spangled banner bring hither,
Columbia's true sons let it wave;
The wreaths they have won never wither,
The stars cease to shine on the brave;
The service united ne'er sever,
Hold to their colors so true,
Three cheers for the red, white and blue,
Three cheers for the red, white and blue,
The army and navy forever,
Three cheers for the red, white and blue.

Our America

AMERICA FOR ME

To me is the Old World, and travel up and down
Among the famous palaces and cities of renown,
To admire the crumbly castles and the statues of the Kings,
But now I think I've had enough of antiquated things.

Chorus

Let's come again, and home again, America for me!
My heart is turning home again, and there I long to be
In the land of youth and freedom beyond the ocean bars,
Where the air is full of sunlight and the flag is full of stars.

O London is a man's town, there's power in the air,
And Paris is a woman's town, with flowers in her hair,
But it's sweet to dream in Venice, and it's great to roam,
But when it comes to living, there is no place like home.

Chorus

Let's come again, and home again, America for me!
I want a ship that's westward bound to plow the sea,
To the blessed Land of Room-Enough beyond the sea,
Where the air is full of sunlight and the flag is full of stars.
I know that Europe's wonderful, yet something
The past is too much with her, and the people
But the glory of the Present is to make the Future
Is our land for what she is, and what she is.

LAND OF MINE

Oh the world is full of countries,
But there's one that is my own,
It's the land that stood for freedom
When it had to stand alone;
It's the land that gave a welcome
To all men who would be free,
Of all the lands around the earth,
It is the land for me.

Land of mine, mine, mine!
Oh land of mine, mine, mine,
From Atlantic to Pacific,
From the palm tree to the pine,
With the old flag waving o'er you
There's no foe can stand before you,
Land of mine, land of mine!
Land of mine, mine, MINE!

Every lamp light in the window,
Every prayer breathed in the night,
Every drum beat in the day time,
Calls my soul to what is right,
In the sky in stainless glory
Flaunts the old flag of the free,
And in its glow the world shall know
You are the land for me.

WOULD NEVER END

With professional efficiency, this energetic team of faculty and student members spends endless hours keeping the forces of law and order at Washington running smoothly. These students not only promote better habits of citizenship for others, but are furnishing themselves with experience which will prove of unlimited value in tomorrow's world.

A great part of Washington's success in war activities was due to the foresight and meticulous planning of the War Service Committee. Under their sponsorship, Washington surpassed all city high-schools in the house-to-house paper drives, with a total of 161 tons of paper in March. Bond rallies featuring letters and personal accounts of relatives in service over seas; talks by alumni in war work — all of the committee's plans aided in showing the student body its part in the nation's fight for freedom.

Realizing the singular importance of war bonds and stamps today, Tonians made admirable strides in furthering purchases during special drives and every school day. Enthused by teachers, many homerooms kept the Minuteman Banner flying with their one-hundred per cent records, upholding the school's weekly average to over ninety per cent. To make convenient these investments, students rendered their services at stations in the halls each Monday, supplementing the daily post of the used bookstore.

The Student Council proudly points to its accomplishments as proof of its worth as an advisory body. In addition to carrying on routine business, through its standing committees it has administered the point system, planned auditorium productions, promoted matinee dances, provided current announcements, and checked building needs. By special assignments, the Council promoted publicity for the first paper drive and has cooperated in all school victory movements.

SCROLL WEEKLY

BUSINESS STAFF

Sending the Scroll to 90 service camp libraries throughout the country, as well as to alumni overseas, was the special aim of the Scroll Weekly Business staff. In addition, they were busy securing ads, recording installment payments, and distributing 1859 Scrolls to subscribers' desks each Wednesday.

LITERARY STAFF

"To hasten ultimate victory by publicizing and interpreting everything that aids in the war effort," and "To use our influence in establishing tolerance and open-mindedness on the students of today — the peacemakers of tomorrow" — these were two of the goals set this year by the Scroll Weekly. The staff helped in the organization of the many salvage drives and supplied information concerning the alumni of Washington serving in the armed forces. In feature articles they presented many post-war problems which will confront the "peacemakers of tomorrow." The staff can well be proud of its leadership of the nation through both war activities and regular work.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Among Washington's proudest achievements this year were the awards received by the Scroll. The records of the past were a challenge to the staff to see whether, under strained conditions, it could still keep up the standard or set a new pace. The Scroll, which has for many years held the pace-maker rating for the nation, again took the lead in journalistic writing. Pacemaker quality was especially evidenced in the work of two students: Audrey Landjahr with "How We Make Pacemaker"; and Florence Rust, who received individual recognition with "Five Books in a Foxhole." With leaders like these and an able staff, it is little wonder that the Scroll has set the pace of all high school papers. This year twenty members of the Weekly staff and ten members of the Yearbook staff, having had their work recommended by their critics and accepted by the Society's executive Secretary, were formally initiated at the Quill and Scroll ceremonies.

SCROLL YEARBOOK

PUBLICITY

Swelling the subscription list for the yearbook, the publicity staff obtained a record-breaker capacity of 1,963 subscriptions the first day. Through the aid of radio skits presented over the broadcasting system as well as blotters and leaflets distributed to each student and teacher, the yearbook was effectively introduced to the school.

LITERARY STAFF

When the time came to choose a theme for the 1944 Yearbook, it was readily seen that the prevailing national spirit blended harmoniously with the loyal and animated feeling 'Tonians hold for their school. The theme "I Hear America Singing" was suggested; but since America's singing, playing, planning, working, and leading are carried on with equal vigor and import, the problem arose as to which activity would best exemplify our life. Then a composite unfolded: "This Is the American Way." . . . It was the duty of the literary, art, and photography staffs to develop this theme in their respective ways. Through the visualization of "America Singing," it was conceived that phrases from certain songs might strike the key notes and link the various sections. "He has sounded forth the trumpet that shall never know defeat." How important are our leaders as the many respond in school, on the home front, and across the seas! And who more eagerly than the seniors are planning "Till the lights go on again all over the world"? With excerpts from the songs in mind, the art staff designed a series of sketches as borders typifying various phases of the American way of living. Just as the small mill, years ago, did its work toward creating power until the gigantic dam took over, so Washington produces workers who blend with others in forming our nation's industry. Then there is the senior who, as the sower of seeds, anticipates the harvest of grain to feed the world or, as the builder of bridges, looks forward to new horizons. . . . Hands engaged in worthwhile activity, while portraying the individual, become, through the photographer's skill, a montage of symbols for the entire country. Hands dexterously passing over the organ keys send harmonious, binding chords through all the people.

BUSINESS STAFF

Every meritorious project presents numerous technical and business difficulties; so did our yearbook to the business staff. Making arrangements with the printer, writing letters to each publisher of the music excerpts used on the division pages, collecting and recording subscriptions — all contributed to the success of the yearbook. The wartime curtailment of paper and photographic materials did not unduly handicap the staff; for, through the foresight of the managers, this problem was anticipated. Except for a slight reduction in number of pages and in weight of paper used, our yearbook has remained on its high prewar level.

The "busy bees of Washington"—is a fitting name for the stage crew. These industrious workers, under the direction and guidance of Mr. Donald Mereen, are responsible for the construction of settings used at Washington Players' meetings and all auditorium programs as well. With the supply of new material curtailed by the war, the members of the stage crew find it necessary to repair and recondition old equipment that otherwise would be discarded. Besides keeping such properties in working order, the stage crew lends its services to various clubs by setting up sound and lighting facilities for mixers and other programs.

Curtain going up! It is a regular meeting of the Washington Players. From the presentation of scenes from Shakespeare's "Macbeth," versatile players turned to adolescent love, as depicted in Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" and a radio adaptation of Maureen Daly's short story "Sixteen." "House Divided," a one-act play illustrating faith in a war-torn world, was given a workshop program. Maxwell Anderson's "Miracle of the Danube" was presented before the entire school. Assisted by the A Cappella Choir, members of the Washington Players presented an inspiring Thanksgiving program, with a series of tableaux illustrating epics in American development. The Senior Farewell program was of a serious nature. "White Cliffs of Dover," "Friend Hannah," and an excerpt from "How Green Was My Valley" were rendered with true skill. The Senior Farewell also proved to be a farewell to the Club Critic, Miss Ruth Benz, who announced her engagement. The Players opened their spring semester under a new critic, Mrs. Marion Goelzer, who had previously served during a year's leave of absence by Miss Benz. An original radio play, "An Axe to Grind" by Gerald Hiken highlighted the first meeting. History found a way into a Player meeting when three scenes from "Harriet" brought glimpses of the life of Harriet Beecher Stowe. The riotous "Philadelphia Story" caused the auditorium to resound with laughter. The traditional Senior Play was not presented this year because of the war. Instead, members devoted their public performance to aiding the war effort of their country and of their school.

Whenever the doors of Washington High are opened to the public, the brightness and cheerfulness of the lights within are matched by the gleaming smiles of the courteous young cadets on duty at every occasion—forensic contests, Intersociety, Open House, the Music Festival. At these times the confusion of finding a particular seat among those hundreds is quickly eliminated by the ever-ready assistance of these neatly-uniformed youths—the ushers! Their courtesy and efficiency are highly praised by our many patrons; and well they may be, for only with the aid of these colorful guides can our school productions achieve that "professional air."

ORCHESTRA

In periods of great stress — when our minds, more than ever, are deeply engrossed in the problems of the day — our thoughts are constantly turned to forces like music and drama that will serve to lighten our burdens and uplift our spirits. There is a never-ceasing need on the part of all peoples for the beauty and comfort provided by music, and this need has been aptly filled for us by our own orchestra.

The well-known adage—"Practice makes perfect" is indeed a fitting motto for Washington's orchestra, which climbs ever higher on the ladder of success. Those who witnessed the orchestra's programs during the past season have been impressed by the dignity and earnestness which prevailed even when the members are not performing. Close attention to their parts was necessary at rehearsals while the director, Robert Erdman, skillfully corrected intricate points of workmanship. This meticulous study, supplemented by a co-operative spirit of unity in their activities, enabled the orchestra to render several fine programs for the school and other events.

A highlight of the past season was the Bi-annual Music Festival given at the Milwaukee Auditorium at which event many orchestra members participated. Although the school was not favored with many programs by the orchestra, quality and not quantity was their aim; and their programs were enjoyed by all. In November, they offered selections for the Open House program; and they also took part in a matinee concert for the neighboring school children. Also featured on programs for the assembly and for organizations throughout the city, such as meetings of the Parent-Teacher associations, church clubs, and banquets were solos, trios, and quartettes chosen from the ranks of the orchestra.

The greater of the orchestra's entertainments was the successful Annual Spring Concert. It was then that the musically inclined of our school had a chance to display their talents, while the rest of the student body looked forward to the festival with pleasure. Not only were 'Tonians invited to witness the event, but the public as well. With this concert, the orchestra completed its schedule for the school year. As they reminisce over the year's occasions, there is regret on the part of the graduating members. Their vacated seats will be filled by incoming students, but they will forever cherish the pleasant memories of their semesters in the orchestra, and that spirit of cooperation and fellowship they have gained through it will never die.

BAND

Serving our nation at war, the marching band paraded to augment the results of the waste paper salvage campaign. The melody and quick tempo of a snappy march stirred people to instant action and reminded them of patriotic duties so easy to perform, yet so easily forgotten. But the extent of the band's patriotism was even more reaching, as it quickened the pulses of Washington students during weekly bond and stamp sales with patriotic tunes relayed to homerooms by the broadcasting system. Washington extends its praise and admiration to that fine group of ever active and cooperative student musicians.

Smiles of the students always reflect the appeal of the band whenever that organization favors 'Tonians with a concert. Their hearts throb in time with the beat, the steady beat, of the big base drum as if there were but one mighty heart in Washington. Snappy marches signify the pace we set in our daily routine of study; whimsical novelty numbers indicate the mood of our lighter moments; while variegated classics suggest the pattern of our many extra-curricular activities. What fun it is to wonder what potentialities of vivid music lie dormant within the quiet fingers of the conductor and the still instruments of the musicians as the numbers are being announced! Then, how delightful to have our most exalted dreams come true!

Besides the times the band performed exclusively for the "studes," it gave occasional concerts for other groups. Participating in the open house program, the band, as usual, was one of the feature attractions, their music lingering vividly with the parents. Not only did many a band member exclaim something like "There are my mom and dad in the audience," but interested mothers and fathers of all students were present. But undoubtedly the band itself would choose as its favorite audience the pupils from the neighboring schools. Gratifying and amusing was the wide-eyed admiration of youngsters at the annual concert produced by the music department for grade and junior high pupils. Of course, the event of the year was the Annual Spring Concert, an affair which Washington never fails to attend.

During the football season last fall, the color guard, with flags flying high in the breeze, led the marching band down the stadiums in true regimental style. Feet stepping in rhythmic precision, field maneuvers were executed with the finesse that followed hours of practice after school and during seventh period. As is customary, the band, directed by student leaders and drum majors, entertained the crowd in the would-be dull minutes of the half. After saluting the school of the opposing team, the band would loyally form a "W" to lead "Tonians" singing in staunch support of our gallant pigskinners. Pep songs and snappy marches were played in the stands to heighten the usual excitement of the sport.

In these busy days, when the word "hurry" seems to be the watchword of the people, the need for relaxation is even more prevalent than before. This necessity is an important factor in our lives if we want to do our best work at all times, and it was often supplied by our own A Cappella Choir in the inspiring music they had to offer. Via this music, many a student and teacher were transported into an ideal world where report cards, defense work, and shoe stamps were unheard of. This escape from the strenuous, bustling life was gratefully accepted by everyone.

Ever since the beginning of the human race, man has been expressing his thoughts and emotions in some form of music. From the coming of the earliest man with his crude reed horn flute, the Indian and his tom tom, and the negro mother crooning lullabys to her child, music has progressed to the highly developed opera, choral music, and symphonies. But, whether the preference is for "Brahm's Lullaby" or the "Gavotte" from "Man-on" is not important. It is important, however, that we learn to appreciate the fine qualities in music. These qualities were evidenced in the work of the A Cappella as it sang its way into the hearts of all who listened; and, in Mr. Fred Smith, their director, many a young choir member found a true friend and able critic he will never forget.

The A Cappella's accomplishments covered a wide field of activities. Through a concert broadcast during a Monday morning stamp-and-bond sale, 'Tonians were effectively urged to buy stamps. At this time the choir proffered numerous patriotic selections. In addition to the concert presented each semester for the school assembly, the choir was also featured on the rosters of the Christmas and Thanksgiving programs. The latter event presented a series of tableaux representing America in song, and the background music for these tableaux was provided by the choir. Even the parents had their chance to hear our potential John Charles Thomases and Jenny Linds at the Open House program. The matinee concert for the district schools was another activity in which the A Cappella participated; and the Bi-annual Music Festival at the Milwaukee auditorium, given for the public, was a crowning event of the season.

Songs of America and various foreign lands comprised the A Cappella's contribution to the Spring Concert. As in other years, this concert was enjoyed by all who heard it — students, teachers, and public alike. Not only did the choir sing here at school, but they favored various groups. Their visit to the Soldier's Home will be long remembered by the members, who sang so impressively that night for the veterans. The Hi Mount Parent Teachers Association also claimed the services of the choir during one of their monthly gatherings. Groups of singers also performed for various auditorium meetings, one of which was the Washington Birthday program. At this time the Semester Sixes and Sevens had a chance to display their choral work. A bond rally was another occasion for which all of the girls of the choir gave their services.

No education of a high school student is complete without knowledge of contemporary national and international issues. The best understanding of such problems comes through a thorough review of all phases. In Philomatheia, these discussions took the form of panels and debates. National questions included the Soldier vote bill, the national service question, and repeal of the Exclusion Act. To round out the meetings, humorous readings, songs, and mixers were offered. One of the most popular events of the year was senior day, when the graduates took over and showed their appreciation of a fine organization.

"The Meeting of the White and the Red Man," initiated Alphanea's theme for the fall semester — American History. By means of debates, orations, readings, and original skits, the various historical periods such as "The War of the Revolution," "The Westward Trek," "The Gay Nineties," and "In the Days of the Horseless Carriage" were revealed. . . . For the spring term, the club divided into semester units, each with a chairman. These presented programs, at which the rival groups met in debate. The close of the semester heralded the winning unit, according to the panel judges, and brought the traditional fun-filled mixer.

STATE DEBATE

It is the purpose of the State Debate class to help young people organize their thoughts and speak more effectively. The question of this year's class, "Resolved: That the United States join in reconstituting the League of Nations," required very careful preparation. As for the results, Washington's teams won 5 out of 6 debates at the district contest and 4 out of 6 at the state finals.

FORENSICS

Forensic aspirants met daily each eighth hour preliminary to representing Washington in the League Contest against Messmer and Riverside at Washington. Here, Lloyd Marks, Edward McCully, William Holton, Muriel Mundt, Roy Butter, and Gerald Hiken received "A" ratings. This group then proceeded to the district and state contests to bring honors to Washington.

LINCOLN

"That government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from this earth"—these stirring words motivate the activities of the Lincoln Forensic Society. America's problems, present and future, served as the theme for this year's debates, with such issues as government subsidies, outlawing of strikes during war, permanent program of compulsory military training, and lowering of the voting age.

MUSIC CLUB

CAMERA CLUB

Our slogan for extra-curricular activities really applies literally to Washington's own Music Club, for if the spirit of "America Sings" is expressed anywhere, it is here! It has brought to its members not only pleasant relaxation from routine school duties, but also cultural inspirations and appreciation of group effort. . . . The members will ever cherish their many joyous hours of music together, with all participating. They enjoyed the entire range of music, from the classic "Prelude in C-Sharp Minor" to "Mairzy Doats" and "Boogie Woogie" and the stirring wartime music. They were uplifted by programs like that of Mr. Herman Kelbe, of the Wisconsin Symphony Orchestra, on violin technique; and were technically and musically enlightened by Mr. Fred Smith's story of organ composition and functions.

In the words of the late Waldo Warren, "Make a large place in your life for music, and it will bring you a priceless reward. All the desires of your heart will come closer as you become attuned to the rhythm and harmony of life. Open your soul to the power of Music, and there will enter into your life a greater fullness for all that makes for progress and joy."

Resolutely on the way to righteous victory, "America Sings!"

This year, despite film shortages, the Camera Club programs have reflected continued interest in the art. Demonstrations given by authorities in particular fields of photography offered varied instructions and suggestions to the members. Besides illustrations of intensifying, reducing, and toning prints and negatives, other subjects included various methods of newspaper photography, coloring pictures, and ideas on composition. . . . A tour to a local photo studio provided demonstrations of various processes involved in commercial photography. In reviewing pictures, the club supplemented sound films, like "Highlights and Shadows" and travel movies, with slides accompanied by lectures. A Photographic contest and the group development of a Washington football picture provided fun for all. Trips to two Milwaukee scenic parks highlighted the year. . . . The members, also, generously extended their delights to all students through an exhibit of striking photographs of still life, outdoor scenes, and human interest.

LIBRARY Lost and Found

In the library poster displays were exhibited during the year concerning the Pan American countries, the war spirit of the United Nations, and the rights Wisconsinites support. A scrapbook, showing the activities of Washingtonians and faculty members now in the armed forces, was kept by Miss Norma Zartner. Routine duties, such as filing cards and checking circulation, were performed by monitors. . . . The need for conserving time seemed to have no effect on the amount of business transacted at the Lost and Found. Pens, sweaters, and hats continued to be mislaid, discovered, catalogued by monitors, and retrieved by joyful students.

OFFICE MONITORS

The student office force has been busier than usual because of extra tasks of war. Among these duties were the sorting and distributing of stamp sales slips, polling of records to provide necessary information for the War Department concerning "Tonians in service, registration of visiting servicemen, and answering telephone calls. . . . In addition, cheerful assistants served regularly in supplying students and teachers at the counter; sorting and filing program and report cards; sending messages; opening lockers; cutting and stamping various slips; distributing pamphlets to homerooms, and filing data. . . . These and other duties aided Miss Brooks and her co-staff in their aim to help keep Washington all out for victory.

GIRLS' CLUB

Strength in unity has again been proved as the Girls' Club worked in harmonious cooperation on various welfare projects. Red Cross lap robes, wash cloths, and tray covers claimed the attention of juniors and seniors, while sophomores sponsored a dance to finance their stuffed-animal and scrapbook projects. Highlighting the year was the Springtime, an event for which the girls exercised their leap-year privileges.

INFIRMARY MONITORS

Crispy white uniforms, cool thinking, and capable hands typify the infirmary monitors. Under the supervision of Miss Gladys Lynch, two attendants are on duty during each hour of the day and before school, to render complete and continual service to any girl in need. Muriel Mundt is the student supervisor of the seventeen girls. Skillfully trained in first aid, they are available for any emergency. The girls also provide indispensable service to the school in general check-ups and tabulation of work.

SPANISH CLUB

A popular subject at Washington is the Spanish language. As a corollary, many students have joined the Spanish Club, which uniquely uses its own language to carry on meetings. The games played are Spanish; and the plays, skits, and quizzes all use that tongue as well. The programs of the club this past year were varied and interesting, ranging from comedies like "Juicio Por Jurado" to familiar songs of Spanish origin. Many times members offered vocal solos or wrote plays and quizzes. Readings, too, had an important part on the club roster. But all of this enjoyable fun was more than just a few hours of relaxation. It helped the students immensely to become acquainted with the language they were learning and gave them the unequalled opportunity to converse in Spanish, and to improve by constant unregimented practice. In a play "What Happened to the Turkey" use was made of the common every-day speech, for it included the many idioms and phrases peculiar to the language, giving a clearer picture of what South American or Mexican life is like.

GERMAN CLUB

It's old-world atmosphere of charm and gaiety makes the German Club distinctive among societies at Washington. During the past year, folk songs and games in the native language provided much amusement and good-fellowship. Readings, quizzes, and musical solos played their part in the bi-weekly meetings, and occasionally an interesting or amusing dramatization. These playlets were student directed, in either German or English. A one act play, "Die Ankuft" was uniquely presented as a serial relayed by four casts. Emphasizing the part German immigrants played in influencing the growth of certain American localities, students gave travelogues on German-American life, customs, and manners. Humorous readings written in Milwaukee-German (a combination language violating all rules, both English and Deutsch), proved very entertaining.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Realizing the need for trained home-makers in the world of tomorrow, Miss Freda Carlson and Miss Henrietta Fairall, together with twenty-five girls, reorganized the Home Economics Club, after a semester of inactivity. Plays, films, and talks on child care and household management provided discussions. A Mother's Day party provided an opportunity to apply knowledge gained.

As an introduction to the year's activities, an open forum on chemistry in the world today gave each member an opportunity to voice his views and become acquainted with those of his fellows. In this way, topics for future presentation and investigation were determined. Later a film, "Chemical Warfare," illustrated the horrible powers of poisonous gases in combat and suggested chemistry's lingering effects when used destructively. Directly opposing this program was one on the chemical production of synthetic perfumes, proving how astonishing are the miracles of science; for, in this case, unpleasantly odoriferous materials are used in the concoction of exotic fragrances. Other programs included lectures on diamonds, chemical processes involved in the formation of gems, and chemistry in the field of photography.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

PHYSICS CLUB

The two most familiar and very often most puzzling questions of childhood are "Why?" and "How?" It is not until the children have grown to adolescence that they have a chance in the Science classes to satisfy their curiosity about many things. But there are those who are not satisfied with just the explanations of books. They want to see and hear the answers to those puzzling "Why's?" and "How's?" and consequently join the Physics Club. . . . This past year the club based its activities on the work being done in the classes, so that the club could amplify the classwork. In this way it was able to offer helpful as well as entertaining movies and lectures on various topics, including electricity and refrigeration. There were speakers, like Mr. Omar Lawson, of the Milwaukee School of Engineering, to talk on refrigeration; movies of "Sound Waves" to illustrate that topic; and numerous experiments conducted by members themselves. The interesting and complex subject of radar and other electronic devices was discussed by Dr. Theodore Rouse of the University of Wisconsin in Milwaukee. . . . Then, too, with airplanes taking such a vital part in the war effort, a timely talk on the theory of flight was rendered by Mr. William Fraser of the Curtis-Wright Airport. With these varied and numerous presentations, the members of the Physics Club found many of their "Why's?" and "How's?" answered in a way that was completely satisfactory to them.

The second semester opened with a "bang!", literally and figuratively, for a complete reorganization drew a larger membership than ever before in the club's history, and the demonstrations for the afternoon were based on explosions. Among the club's outstanding activities were the field trips to places of scientific interest, including an excursion to the Acme Research and Engineering Laboratory to study methods of research.

The followers of John James Audubon and Sir Isaac Walton had another very eventful year learning more about this wondrous earth of ours—its trees and plants, its birds and animals, its geology and resources—through the media of speakers, films, and hikes. . . . In one of its speakers the Nature Club felt it had something that should not be confined within the walls of 428. Thus the club presented Mr. Murl Deusing to the school with a portion of his film, "Big Game Hunting In Your Own Back Yard". . . . Mr. Deusing had previously presented to the club, films showing the various aspects of conservation in Wisconsin, Michigan, and Canada. Then the speaker took the club into the wilds of Canada on a canoe trip where big fish, nature as it was meant to be, and hard work are realities.

Societas Latina can proudly boast that each of its members took part in one or more of the programs, which centered about the theme "Latin for Americans." Included in the fall activities were a talk in Latin, a dialogue, the rendering of several Old Mother Goose nursery rhymes in Latin, and a demonstration of another form of the father of languages—Pig Latin. Also to acquaint members with some of the strange, modern tongues, talks on Russian and Japanese were rendered. . . . Explaining the relation of Latin to modern language, "Latin for Americans" turned out so well as a theme that it was chosen as the topic for the second semester, also. At the first meeting, talks on Roman and American statesmen provided interesting comparisons. Ancient Rome and present-day America were contrasted in talks. The subject of ceiling prices in America and of similar Roman situations was discussed; censorship and rumors and their effects on war were also explained. At most of the meetings there was entertainment in the way of music; such as piano solos, duets, and singing.

A meeting that will not be forgotten resulted when Mr. Henry Kennon, Washington Park Zoo Director, spoke on reptiles and illustrated his talk with living specimens, including a variety of harmless species from both North and South America and a poisonous gila monster. . . . Mr. Kenneth Beers, aided by a sound motion picture, sent the thoughts of the club dancing ahead to summer when youth hosteling would again be in its glory.

NEWSBOYS

The morning meetings of the Street Traders Club are eagerly looked forward to by all members. Generally the boys met at least once a week, using the auditorium as an assembly. All mention of studies is put aside at the meetings; and the boys, under the guidance of Miss Ida Kuehnast and their cabinet, enter into the club's business and entertainment whole-heartedly. But the large number of Street Traders' names on the honor roll is proof enough that the boys are living up to their motto, "Earning while Learning". . . . Throughout the year, the programs presented much fine talent. Highlight of all was the illustrated talk on the possibilities of hard-working youth given by Principal George Balzer, who related how he once as a youth sold newspapers along the Mississippi River Valley.

"Watch this grip!" Yes, Coach Blackburn gave the "newsies" many interesting points on the sport of the grunners—wrestling at a mid-year program. "Professor" James Yurgaites, master of the mysterious, presented a series of marvelous manifestations and startling illusions, to the great satisfaction of his fellows, at an early spring program. Other programs included a talk given by a returned hero and a fascinating exhibit of roller skating.

AMERICA IS PLANNING

Today, youth prepare in schools and on battlefields the globe over to materialize their dreams. Though feverishly engrossed in fighting a merciless war, the rising generation still carry in the back of their millions of hearts, blueprints for a new world. . . . The love of service which spurs our boys to even greater victories at the fighting fronts has been instilled at Washington. Through participation in war projects, 'Tonians better understand the necessity of unified effort. Thus fortified, the seniors go forth with hopes of fulfilling their postwar plans. . . . Holding high these and other ideals, they look expectantly to the time when the lights shall go on again. Visions of a peaceful world, where career and home and freedom are not forgotten, rise hazily and slowly brighten as the graduates press on over the difficult, footworn path to success. But the ultimate goals are not too far distant — not when the youth of the world, signified in Washington's seniors, are on the march to substantiate their longed-for hopes and ambitions.

THIS IS THE AMERICAN WAY

Doing the best with what one has; making the most of every challenge and opportunity — this is the American way. This is the way which the world reveres and loves; this is the way of courage for today and hope for tomorrow. Leaders, great and small, are insuring it for our country, endeavoring to proclaim it for all with the zeal and determination that is America. Through each of the varied activities of daily life one hundred thirty million souls echo it. Thunderous vibrations from stadiums and corner lots project the grand sense of fair play and competition all Americans love so well. And from the campfires to the town hall lilts the gentle gum of cooperative harmony as Americans learn the value of true fellowship. In that fellowship are sprinkled the seeds of the future, germinating into the dreams and plans that have in ages past meant today's America and which in the future will doubtless be the American way — the world way.
